THE SCHOOL

Lexington Catholic High School serves as an integral part of the Mission of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lexington, Kentucky. We serve students of all faith traditions by providing a high-quality Catholic college preparatory education that fosters the spiritual ideas and moral values of the Gospel. In this dynamic faith community, we nurture the development of the mind, spirit, and body of our students.

This Mission is advanced through communal pursuit of excellence in academic, religious, extracurricular, leadership, and service programs. Each day, our faculty and staff strive to embody this Mission in educational service to the students entrusted to us. It is at the heart of everything we do, whether in the classroom, on the athletic fields, in the art studios, or on service projects in and beyond our local community.

Today, Lexington Catholic is the only Catholic high school serving Kentucky east of Louisville. Our 841 students represent the greater Lexington area, as well as several adjacent counties in central Kentucky. Lexington Catholic has 60 full-time teachers, seven part-time teachers, four guidance counselors, one guidance assistant, one school chaplain, and a spiritual life team. The average class size is 22 students.

Lexington Catholic parent and alumni communities play an integral role in the overall success of the school as board members, volunteers, and life-long cheerleaders of this special school.

THE POSITION

A challenging college prep academic curriculum, competitive athletics program and engaging activities in a Catholic school environment developing the complementary attributes of mind, body and spirit, the President of Lexington Catholic High School is appointed by the Bishop on recommendation of the Board of Trustees (Board) and reports to the Board for matters concerning the administration of the school. The President works with the Board in a collaborative, consultative manner for the ongoing development of the best education, environment and experience that we can offer our students and the best working and professional development atmosphere for our faculty and staff.

SCHOOL HISTORY

Founded in 1951, Lexington Catholic was born through the merger of two older secondary schools, St. Catherine Academy and The Lexington Latin School. St. Catherine Academy had its beginning in 1823 when the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth established their school for girls in Scott County. The school moved to Lexington in 1833 after purchasing land on what is currently Limestone Street.

The Lexington Latin School had its beginning in 1924 when the Bishop of Covington, Francis Howard, made it his first priority to establish Latin Schools in Covington and Lexington.

September 1951 saw the merger of St. Catherine Academy and the Lexington Latin School. It then became known as Lexington Catholic High School and was placed under the direction of the Roman Catholic priests in Lexington. The school on Limestone was soon found to be inadequate. Land was purchased on Clays Mill and the new building opened its doors for the 1957-58 school year at the site that it occupies today.

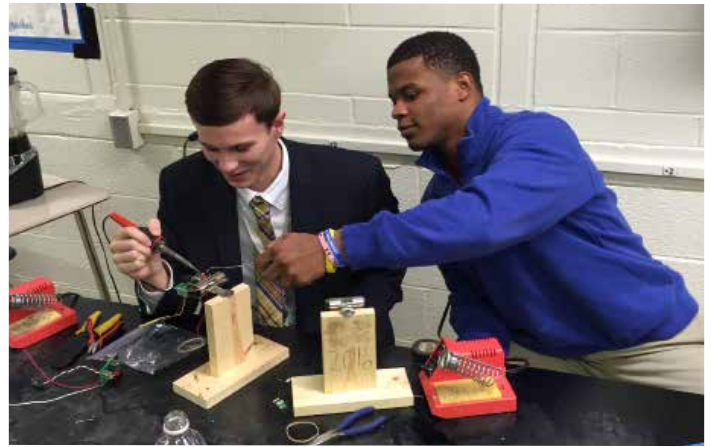

The first year on Clays Mill Road saw enrollment jump from 322 to 387. By the 1960's, enrollment remained above 400 and in 1978 it reached numbers above 500. However, enrollment plummeted to 335 in the early 1990's. Under the direction of President Fr. Robert Bueter, the late 90's saw tremendous growth in the physical plant and enrollment.

In 1991, construction of a new football field house, a library, a second-floor classroom addition, and an arts facility with a 440-seat theatre were completed. In 2000, enrollment steadily increased to 865, and in 2007, Lexington Catholic was named a Blue Ribbon School by the Department of Education.

MIND

The only high school in Fayette County to be named a Blue Ribbon School of Excellence, Lexington Catholic's college-preparatory curriculum includes an extensive array of AP and Honors classes, Dual Credit, small class sizes for optimal educational environment, and specialized programs for students who need extra challenges or assistance. The school is accredited by AdvancEd/ Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and an annual tuition assistance program is available.

College Planning and Guidance

Lexington Catholic's college-preparatory curriculum includes 26 Honors Courses and 23 Advanced Placement (AP) Courses. LCHS does not segregate students into a specific Honors program. Rather, Honors and AP classes are available to ALL qualified students. As a result, more than half the student population qualifies for and enrolls in Honors and/or AP classes. College planning begins freshman year. Students are able to customize their course load by enrolling in their desired courses. No matter what academic path a student chooses, every student is challenged in his/her curriculum. All LCHS graduates are fully prepared for their freshman year of college. The Class of 2017 included 13 Governor's Scholars, two National Merit finalists, and 99% of the graduates went directly to college, collectively earning $19.4 Million in scholarships.

High Marks Center for Learning

The High Marks Program serves as an integral part of the educational Mission of the Catholic Diocese of Lexington and Lexington Catholic High School to support academic success. High Marks is designed to assist all students who exhibit the potential to complete a college-preparatory curriculum as outlined in the graduation requirements for Lexington Catholic High School. The High Marks Center strives to meet the diverse learning needs of typical learners, as well as those with learning differences through enriched and individualized academic support. All students utilizing the High Marks Program will be enrolled in typical graduation requirements. The Learning Enhancement Program provides support for students with learning differences and disabilities such as ADD, ADHD, Dyslexia, Dysgraphia, Dyscalculia, and Autism Spectrum Disorders. Our goal is to have students graduate with an understanding of their own learning needs and the self-advocacy skills needed to enter a post-secondary education with confidence.

Exemplar Scholars

In addition to its advanced academic path, the Lexington Catholic High School Exemplar Scholars Program (Math, Science, and Technology) is designed to take our most talented students in these areas and expose them to a wide range of experiential opportunities. In doing so, we allow our most gifted math and science students to experience research and mentorship opportunities at an unprecedented level. Exemplar Scholars (Fine Arts) provides the same focus and rigor for our most talented fine arts students. It is designed to expose students to a wide range of creative opportunities including artistic collaboration, mentorship, and audience exposure at an unprecedented level. Highlights of both programs include: highly selective admissions process; increased academic rigor; job embedded mentorships; research opportunities; and, a senior project.

SPIRIT

With a full-time chaplain and spiritual life team, a yearly retreat program and community service component for all students, an academic integrity pledge and elected Honor Council, and a full-time Spiritual Life Center, Lexington Catholic maintains faith-based Christian values. Students of many faiths attend Lexington Catholic; 25% of students are non-Catholic.

Spiritual Life Center

The Spiritual Life Center is where students can sign up for service events, retreats, and liturgies. They can seek guidance or confession, pray for vocations with the V-Crew, or simply discuss a stressful day. The Center coordinates weekly Chapel activities such as Mass, LIFT youth gatherings, and Adoration, monthly all-school Masses, retreats for each grade level, a Reconciliation Service once a semester, and a vibrant community service program. The Spiritual Life Center also sponsors the Lexington Catholic Service Club, a group of almost 600 students and faculty who work together to plan and participate in service projects.

The Campus

Lexington Catholic High School sits on 10.3 acres of land in the heart of Lexington, Kentucky off Clays Mill Road. Surrounded by the historic Southland Park neighborhood, the original campus was built in 1951. Over the past 60 years, LCHS has undergone extensive renovations to expand the campus to its current facility of 155,000 square feet.

The heart of LCHS resides in the Chapel, located just inside the front entrance. The academic campus has 40 classrooms that encompass science, English, Math, world language and religion wings as well as an arts wing, a 400-seat theatre, choral room and a centralized Senior courtyard. In 2014 LCHS dedicated the library space to become the High Marks Center for Learning which hosts private and group tutoring sessions and accommodations for students with learning differences.

The athletics facilities include a football field with field house, a baseball field with practice cages, two newly renovated weight/training rooms, and two gymnasiums to host a myriad of sports from varsity to intramural.

BODY

More than 85% of the student body participates in at least one of 20 sports teams, athletic clubs and intramural events including an award-winning choral and band program, annual teacher-led study abroad programs, and 26 extracurricular activities. With a house system that encourages community across grade levels, school spirit and camaraderie is at a high level year-round at Lexington Catholic.

Service Program

Students are required to complete at least 60 hours of service prior to graduation. We believe that the community service program makes a lasting impact on those served and on the lives of our students, expanding their hearts and minds and preparing them to be powerful and effective agents of change. Last year, seniors alone logged nearly 24,000 hours over the course of their four years. Fulfilling this responsibility directly exemplifies the Mission of LCHS.

Athletics

Lexington Catholic has a long history of award-winning athletics that serve more than 600 students each year. With dedicated athletics staff and devoted coaches, countless LCHS students have continued their athletic careers at top colleges across the country. Just a few of the athletic honors in the past year included: the boys' cross-country team winning the state 2A Championship, girls' soccer winning state runner-up.

House System

The first school in central Kentucky to form a house system, Lexington Catholic offers nine Houses named after Catholic saints or religious leaders. Houses foster a strong sense of belonging and involvement in the campus community. Each House is comprised of approximately 90 students, ranging from freshmen to senior status. Students participate in an induction ceremony upon entering a House, and they remain in the same House throughout their time at LCHS. Houses compete with each other in contests and challenges that encourage House unity and camaraderie and promote overall school spirit.

OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES

As the only Catholic high school in central Kentucky, Lexington Catholic serves a wide array of families and students from a 14-county region. With a wide range of academic, fine arts and athletics programs, Lexington Catholic is in a unique position to welcome and engage students at all learning levels who seek a Catholic education.

The community of Lexington Catholic is strong. Loyal faculty, staff, parents, and board members care deeply about the Mission of the school and work hard to ensure high standards, a safe environment, fiscal sustainability and its Catholic identity. Dedicated faculty connect with students outside the classroom through extracurricular activities including a house system, dozens of clubs, service, athletics, and arts programs. Coupled with classroom vibrancy, these additional opportunities for students provide the foundation of a lifetime of curiosity and passion and a cornerstone of Lexington Catholic's appeal.

People and programs present Lexington Catholic High School's greatest opportunities, while facilities provide the greatest challenge. Lexington Catholic's campus is small and restricted in growth by the neighborhoods that surround it. Facilities have seen upgrades and additions over the years. But, as curriculum and teaching methods evolve, programs like High Marks have been added and enrollment has increased, more modern and collaborative spaces are needed including state of the art science labs.

Additionally, competitor high school programs are numerous in Lexington, including a new public high school with a state-of-the-art campus. Facilities and programs are significant in attracting families to Lexington Catholic short and long-term, especially as tuition continues to rise and value proposition is questioned. There is pressure to modernize and improve facilities while staying true to the school's faith-based Mission by maintaining an environment that nurtures each student and develops him/her as a whole student in mind, spirit, and body.

EQUITY AND INCLUSION

The board, faculty and staff of Lexington Catholic recently completed a Five-Year Strategic Plan. This plan sets our direction by establishing goals and benchmarks to sustain and strengthen all aspects of Lexington Catholic. The strategic plan is a living document designed to align our resources, decisions and vision for a transformative academic and learning experience for current students and generations to come. Within the plan are six pillars that encompass the essential areas of Academics, Athletics, Catholic Identity, Facilities, Finance, Operations and School Life and Culture.

The School Life and Culture pillar is noteworthy for its emphasis on equity and inclusion. Lexington Catholic understands that today's students will live and work in an increasingly global community.

As such, we are committed to preparing students for a diverse world. Our school community worked alongside two nationally recognized leaders, Dr. Roger Cleveland and Dr. Charles Corprew, to create a plan that integrates equity and inclusion in all areas of our school including the curriculum and all aspects of school culture. Lexington Catholic recently announced the hiring of its first-ever Equity and Inclusion Director, who will be responsible for seeing that the goals and strategies within the School Life and Culture pillar are implemented and successful.

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY

Lexington, Kentucky is the second-largest city in Kentucky next to Louisville and is located in the heart of the Bluegrass region. In 2013, the population estimate given by the U.S. Census Bureau was 308,428. Lexington is known as the "Horse Capital of the World," since it is home to the Kentucky Horse Park, Keeneland Race Course and the Red Mile Race Course. The area is noted for its beautiful fertile soil plentiful in limestone.

The city has an amazing natural beauty and excellent pastures with wonderful horse and stock farms. Lexington is known for its gentle rolling hills, lush scenery, strong economy and diverse workforce, but most of all for its beautiful thoroughbred horses. Lexington is also where the thoroughbred horses are bred, foaled, trained, bought, sold, raced and retired and, in 2010, had the honor of hosting the World Equestrian Games.

Lexington has three public universities and five private colleges. The University of Kentucky is known for its diverse range of courses, including its cooperative extension service for Agricultural Studies, and its Department of Medicine. Lexington is a huge center of corporations, including two Fortune 500 companies. Amazon.com, Lexmark and Toyota are just a few of the major corporations located in this area. And, for peanut butter fans, Lexington's JIF peanut butter plant produces more peanut butter than any factory in the world!

Lexington is home to the University of Kentucky Wildcats, a basketball team that has made its mark as a leader in the nation. This team has the distinction of winning more games than any other team in college basketball history. In March of 2007, Lexington hosted the NCAA basketball tournament and attracted thousands of visitors throughout the country.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

THE PRESIDENT'S PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES ARE:

- Institutional Advancement: The President serves as the school's chief fundraiser and main community contact. The President directs marketing efforts, recruitment strategies, fundraising programs and alumni activities in collaboration with the Advancement Team and the Board.
